

MEXICAN TROOPS BEGIN OFFENSIVE AGAINST REBELS

Troops Under Orders From Obregon Are Marching
On Guadaluajara.

BATTLE EXPECTED
WITHIN 24 HOURS

Leader Of Regiment That Mutinies Is Captured
In Oil Fields.

Mexico City, Dec. 13. — Federal troops, acting upon orders from President Obregon, today began an offensive against De La Huerta-Sanchez rebels in the state of Jalisco.

The rebels in Jalisco are under command of Gen. Enrique Estrada who seized Guadaluajara several days ago.

Federal troops under Gen. Joaquin Amaro are marching upon Guadaluajara and a battle is expected in that district within 24 hours.

There are about 8,000 loyal federal soldiers on the move to give battle to the insurgents.

The advanced positions of the rebels lie between Ocotland and Lebarca where fighting is expected. The federals are under stern orders from Mexico City to clear the entire state of rebel troops.

Orders have been sent to the mobilized troops at Esperanza to reinforce the federals in the state of Vera Cruz for a concerted effort to relieve the city of Vera Cruz, now held by Gen. Guadalupe Sanchez's forces.

Gen. Flores sent word to President Obregon that he has temporarily withdrawn his candidacy for the Mexican presidency in order to give his full attention to his duties as governor of the state of Sinaloa.

Hippolite, brother of the late "Pancho" Villa, sent word from Cuernavaca, state of Chihuahua, that he would obey the request of his dead brother to remain loyal to the Obregon movement.

Federal garrison at Frontera, state of Tlaxcala, has mutinied. The commandant was killed. The soldiers later joined the rebels.

Orders were issued by the Obregon government to disarm all the students of the National academy. Gen. Ramirez Garza, chief of staff to Gen. Sanchez, the rebel commander, as, until a few weeks ago director of the academy. It was feared that Garza's propaganda against President Obregon might have a tendency to turn some of the students against the governor. The National academy is Mexico's "West Point."

Tampico, Mex., Dec. 13.—A military censorship was established here today by the commandant of the garrison.

Federal troops operating between the Pannco river and Tuxpan in the heart of the Tampico oil fields, have captured Col. Porras, who, with part of the 71st regiment, mutinied and attempted to join the rebels.

Most of the mutineers returned to their regiment pledging their loyalty to President Obregon.

ALLEGED SLAYER SEEKS FREEDOM

Sirbu, Held For Death Of Dr. Conrad, Fights For Release On Bail.

Youngstown, Dec. 13. — Attorneys for Ironin Sirbu, held without bail on charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Dr. S. E. Conrad, dry agent, during a raid here Nov. 19, have launched a new fight to get him freed on bail, when Judge Gessner granted them a new hearing at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

Sirbu was refused bail after a preliminary hearing before Judge Jenkins in police court Monday.

Whether Sirbu regains temporary freedom depends on the substantiation of the charges made by Oscar Diser and Jared P. Huxley, his lawyers, in the petition for the hearing.

They say the evidence presented to Judge Jenkins was not sufficient to presume Sirbu's guilt and that he is unjustly held. There is no proof which points to Sirbu's guilt, they allege.

The application for the hearing also states that the offense with which the defendant is charged is bad under the laws.

Prosecuting Attorney Hull will fight against Sirbu's appeal for bail and will attempt to show Judge Gessner that Sirbu should not be released from jail.

WANT OHIO ROAD RULING CHANGED

Commissioners Object To Ban On Willite For County Highway.

It is possible that the county commissioners will go to Columbus next week to confer with Gov. V. E. Donahey and the state highway department with reference to the letting of a contract for the improvement of a section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown intercounty highway in Liverpool township.

The highway department has informed the commissioners that, acting on an order received from Gov. Donahey it would be impossible for the state to take part in this letting because Willite surfacing material was to be used on the job. The commissioners contend that inasmuch as the township and the county are paying practically all of the contract, the state should not assume the attitude it has in this particular instance.

The conference has been asked for and the time of the trip to Columbus will be determined by the response to the request for a hearing.

WOMAN ATTACKING KLAN ASSERT IT'S GREATEST MENACE

"Monster" Must Be Crushed
By Christian People,
She Declares.

Columbus, Dec. 13.—Declarations that the Ku Klux Klan is the "greatest menace to better relations between the negroes and the whites," that the past twelve months "have made a golden year in the lynching record of the country," and that "much of sectarian animosity among the churches has passed away," were made here today by speakers who addressed the annual meeting of the executive committee, Federal Council of churches.

Today's speakers included Bishop Thomas Nicholson, Chicago, of the Methodist Episcopal church; Mrs. W. C. Winsborough, St. Louis, superintendent of the women's auxiliary of the Presbyterian church in the United States (south); and Dr. George E. Haynes, New York, a secretary of the commission on race relations, Federal Council of churches.

"The Ku Klux Klan is armed anarchy, breaking up homes, terrorizing communities, torturing and slaying victims and accomplishing its diabolical purposes with covered face," asserted Mrs. Winsborough, discussing the question: "How can the churches join in larger service to the movement for inter-racial cooperation and good will?"

"Must Crush Monster"

"This organization (Ku Klux Klan) is reaching its terrible tenacity into every state in the Union," continued Mrs. Winsborough. "The time for inaction has passed. If this monster is to be crushed, it must be done by the Christian people of America. If we who believe that 'principle has made of one blood all nations of the earth' remain silent in the face of so great an evil the very stones themselves will cry out against us."

"Mob violence in its naked reality is only enough to repel honest men, but the Ku Klux Klan clothes mob law under the guise of beneficence. While prosecuting the race from which our master came, they have adopted the cross as their symbol, and, saddest of all, have enlisted among their followers thousands of the lowly Nazarene who came to bring peace to the world and who called all men his brethren."

MILLIONS LOST AS INVESTMENT BANKER FLEES

Investments Made On Word Of Leo Koretz By His Chicago Friends.

Att'y Warren Serves
23 Years As Village
Solicitor; To Retire

MOTHER PLACES ALL HER SAVINGS

Wife Willing To Turn Over
Jewels To Meet Claims
Of Investors.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Masters of trans-Atlantic liners clearing from New York in the last few days and police of principal parts of the city today were in possession of radio information asking their aid in the search for Leo Koretz, wealthy patron of the arts and social figure.

Investments which State Attorney Robert Crowe stated would total $2,000,000 have been made on Koretz' word by Chicago friends who seek an accounting after a fruitless visit to Panama and a vain effort to locate the timber and oil holdings of the "Bayano River Trust."

The trace of Koretz ends with his leaving the St. Regis hotel in New York where members of the Panama expedition sought to find him when they could not locate his Panamanian holdings.

When it was learned that he had checked out from the St. Regis, Dec. 6, State's Attorney Crowe led officers in raids on Koretz' magnificent offices occupying a whole floor in the Majestic building here and on his branch offices at the exclusive Drake hotel.

Mother Loses Savings

Books of his investment projects were seized and an attempt will be made to compile the total investments made on Koretz' advice.

Two days after the date he was last seen in New York, a package containing $75,000 in jewels which had been charged to his account, was received at his home, a palatial residence which he rented on exclusive Sheridan rd.

His wife told investigating officers that she and her two children were practically penniless, but what little jewelry she possessed would be used to pay claims of investors.

Koretz' mother had placed $45,000 all her savings, with her son for stock in the Bayano River Trust.

All of the wardrobe which the missing investment banker took on his New York trip was contained in another package received at his home.

THREE AMERICANS FOR PROBE BOARD

Mention Dawes And Hoover
For Reparations Commission Members.

Paris, Dec. 13.—The inter-allied reparations commission met today when the personnel of members of the committee which will study Germany's capacity for reparations' payment, was discussed.

It was learned that the commission has practically decided to suggest the name of Charles G. Dawes, former director of the budget of the United States government, as one of the American members.

There are to be three Americans upon the various committees, but so far as known only Dawes' name was discussed today. Herbert Hoover is prominently mentioned.

All the members of the committees will have an equal voice. It is regarded as certain now that Germany will not have membership in any of the committees. France also insists that neutrals be barred.

German witnesses will be called before the committees from time to time to give testimony and to produce documents. The inquiry is expected to last about two months.

This is the fourth house in McKinley ave. that has been entered and robbed within the last few weeks, wearing apparel of considerable value having been stolen from the Speidel residence just recently. Other homes entered were those of Morris French and W. S. Arbaugh.

GREAT HISTORICAL PAGEANT WILL BE GIVEN BY PUPILS

Pretentious Offering Will Be Shown Friday And Saturday Nights.

150 STUDENTS TO APPEAR IN CAST

Glimpses Of Early Days Are Included In Wonderful Pageant.

Students of Salem High school will present a historical pageant Friday and Saturday nights at the auditorium which undoubtedly will surpass all productions of a like nature ever attempted in Salem.

With the participants numbering 150, the most able talent in the student body has been selected for the various roles in the pageant and with a large amount of imported scenery and unusual electrical effects introduced, the production as a whole will be one long to be remembered.

"The Coming of the Cross," or the innovation of Christianity in ancient Britain, provides the entertainment with a strong, sensational and spiritual opening scene. This is closely followed by a scene of medieval England. The rendering of appropriate hymns, special instrumental music and march performances lend a suitable atmosphere to these opening scenes, as does a bit of comic opera and folk dances.

In scene three there is a tableau portraying the landing of the Pilgrims, the scene being explained through readings by members of the cast. A part of this scene is referred to as the "White Man's Foot," and is an Indian act in which considerable dramatic force is displayed.

Another beautiful scene in this part of the program is the enactment of the "Pilgrims' Thanksgiving," songs of praise and religious service adding a serious phase to the entertainment.

Colonial Scene

Next is a portrayal of the spirit of '76, given in tableau and song. The following scene, in which a Colonial garden party is staged, gives a touch of the beautiful and a glimpse into the past, with stately gentlemen and graceful ladies of the early days presenting a correct interpretation of the minut.

In scene five, the pleasures of the previous performance are forgotten in the strife of battle. This scene is augmented by that masterpiece of eloquence, "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address." It is reported that the roll of Lincoln will be enacted in a most commendable manner by a local High school student, a feat that demands ability and strength as an actor.

As a climax to the stupendous program, the final scene will depict "America, the Triumphant," a picture of vast possibilities and highly emotional in character. Both song and tableau will be introduced in the final scene.

With L. P. Drennen, public speaking instructor, as chief director, and such talent as Salem High school may well boast of, this pageant is sure to eclipse all previous efforts of local talent.

The proceeds from the two evening's admissions will be turned over to the alumni scholarship fund and it is the aim of the seniors to provide two of their number with scholarships next year.

Music will be provided by the High school orchestra.

MCKINLEY AVENUE HOME IS ROBBED

Here's Chance To Help Some One Enjoy Christmas

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND

It was Christmas eve. The night was very dark and the snow falling fast. Hermann, the charcoal burner, drew his cloak tighter around him, and the wind whistled fiercely through the trees of the Black Forest. He had been to carry a load to a castle near, and was now hastening to his little hut.

Although he worked very hard, he was poor, gaining barely enough for the wants of his wife and his four little children. He was thinking of them when he heard a faint wailing. Guided by the sound, he groped about and found a little child, scantily clothed, shivering and sobbing by itself in the snow.

"Why, little one, have they left thee here alone to face this cruel blast?"

The child answered nothing, but looked pitiously up in the charcoal-burner's face.

"Thou wouldst be dead before the morning!"

So saying, Hermann raised it in his arms, wrapping it in his cloak and warming its little cold hands in his bosom. When he arrived at his hut he put down the child and tapped at the door, which was immediately thrown open, and the children rushed to meet him.

"Here, wife, is a guest to our Christmas eve supper," said he, leading in the little one, who held timidly to his finger with its tiny hand.

"And welcome he is," said the wife. "Now let him come and warm himself by the fire."

The children all pressed round to welcome and gaze at the little newcomer. They showed him their pretty fir tree, decorated with bright, colored lamps in honor of Christmas eve, which the good mother had endeavored to make a fete for the children.

Then they sat down to supper, each child contributing of its portion for the guest, looking with admiration at its clear, blue eyes and golden hair, which shone so as to shed a brighter light in the little room; and as they gazed it went into a sort of halo round its head, and his eyes beamed with heavenly lustre.

Soon two white wings appeared at his shoulders and he seemed to grow larger and larger, and then the beautiful vision vanished, spreading out his hands as in benediction over them.

Hermann and his wife fell on their knees, exclaiming, in awe-struck voices: "The holy Christ-child!" and then embraced their wondering children in joy and thankfulness that they had entertained the Heavenly Guest.

The next morning, as Hermann passed by the place where he had found the fair child, he saw a cluster of lovely white flowers, with dark green leaves, looking as though the snow itself had blossomed.

Hermann plucked some and carried them reverently home to his wife and children who treasured the fair blossoms and tended them carefully in remembrance of that wonderful Christmas eve, calling them chrysanthemums; and every year, as the time came round, they put aside a portion of their feast and gave it to some poor child, according to the words of the Christ.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

As has been the custom for several years the churches and Red Cross are doing their best to see that those that otherwise could not have a good Christmas dinner will have one.

The E. Ks as usual will bring Christmas to all children of school age that otherwise might be missed by Santa Claus. The crippled children are to have a fine turkey dinner with the Rotarians, their adopted fathers. Santa Claus will visit this party.

The Red Cross will see that the children under school age are not forgotten.

Between the American Legion and the Red Cross, Santa's experience men in hospitals and those that are ill will be remembered.

Already the Girl Scout troops No. 2 and No. 5, have taken families with several children to give a complete Christmas.

Seasonal Thoughts

WE recently heard a man well beyond middle life say that he never had enjoyed a Christmas, never had received a gift on any kind, never had set down to a formal Christmas dinner.

In a land such as this is a statement of that kind is hard to believe. But there may be many such unfortunates.

Never to have enjoyed a Christmas is equivalent to saying that one never experienced normal childhood. And that is a tragic thing to contemplate—no anticipation at the Yuletide, no dreams of the kindly spirit who annually comes to bless the dreams of youth, no rapture of awakening on the Christmas morn, no memories of smiles and laughter! How bitterness must corrode the heart of one who has lived through years only to hear with indifference or sullen resentment the melody of Christmas bells!

Could we envision one unhappy child, staring starkly, hopelessly, into the Christmas morn with sad eyes fixed upon an empty stocking, could we be happy? Not unless we might be able to translate that misery into joy by lighting the corridors of such a pathetic soul in some demonstration of the fulfillment of its Christmas dreamings and hopes.

It is unthinkable that others, especially children, should go cold and hungry while so many exult in the happiness of the Christmas time. But many do go cold and hungry—the tide of tears annually challenges the tide of laughter.

Could we but live true to the appeals of that infinite tenderness, which is of the essence of this great annual holiday, we should seek out some unfortunates, according to our respective abilities, and so send the cheer of gladness to brighten the shadows in which they shrink and hide. No carol ever sung can equal the sweetness and glory of happy laughter on the lips of a little child; no swelling hymns ever breathed the holiness of a relieved widow's prayer of gratitude for unexpected blessings on the Christmas morning.

To carry happiness to others is to win happiness for ourselves. How much of this supreme happiness shall we each win this year?

The Padlock Law

THE Salem House, under fire several times during liquor raids in the last year, has been raided again and once more prohibition enforcement agents declare they found convicting evidence. If the charge of possession placed against the proprietor can be proved in court, it is about time the padlock law be enforced in this case. This hotel has become notorious for its efforts to evade the law and its proprietors deserve little sympathy. The strong hand of enforcement should be invoked by locking the hotel doors, as provided under the prohibition laws.

He declared his countrymen were strengthened by the consideration that America stood beside them "with her might and warm heart."

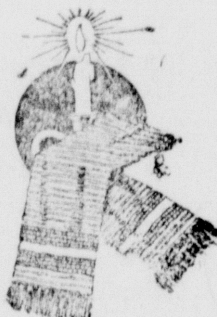

James V. Fieser, acting chairman, reported to the board that a total of $11,400,000 had been collected for Japanese relief. Declaring that interest in the Red Cross was greater than at any time since the war Mr. Fieser said religious, labor, commercial and civic movements throughout the country now recognized the organization as their instrument and kept in touch with it and back of it.

Surprise Him This Christmas

PERHAPS nothing worries the sensible girl at Christmas time as much as the question of what to give "him" at Christmas.

In the gift of her photograph this perplexing problem is solved in the most pleasing way, for no man will deny that to receive from her a gift of her photograph is the gift that he would most prize and enjoy.

We finish our portraits and mount them in a way that gives them a very artistic appearance, but it is necessary that you arrange early for your sitting if you are to have them for the Christmas holidays.

California Adopts Gay Christmas Berry

LOYAL to its own products, California has adopted the "Christmas berry" as its holly, and from some points of similarity it makes a very good substitute for the well-known holly of the eastern states.

The California holly—Christmas berry—toyon—is not very similar to the regular holly in structure, but the tint of the leaves and of the berries approximates the colors afforded by the regular sort.

The leaves of the California holly are not of the form of holly leaves, but the berries easily suggest the regular species. To make the effect seem more real, some florists of coast cities mix the berries of the California holly with the prickly foliage of the live oak.

The shrubs of the California holly grow 4 to 25 feet tall, and the flowers appear in July and August, and the berries, which grow in large clusters similar to cherries, are ripe by Thanksgiving and remain on the trees for some time; although they do not keep well after being plucked.

The plant is common in most of the southern half of the state, and at Christmas time the rich cardinal berries contrasted with the full green of the foliage adds a gay note to the florists' windows and the baskets of the street vendors.

The berries have a rather pleasant taste, somewhat acid and astringent, and are "sometimes eaten by the Indians with great relish," according to Mary Elizabeth Parsons Cunningham, in "Wild Flowers of California."

Such has been the wild scramble for California holly at Christmas times in recent years that it has been necessary to protect the shrubs by law. It now being a misdemeanor to gather the holly in the hills and along the highways without the permission of the owner of the property. Landowners, however, usually are willing for motor parties to avail themselves of a reasonable supply of the rich red and green decorating material for home use, but dealers are often at a loss to supply the demand at Christmas time.—C. F. Wadsworth.

Mysterious Kindness Bound Up in a Bundle

AFTER the joyous excitement of Christmas Day they all sat about the blazing hearth fire with happy reminiscent thoughts and called upon the doctor to tell them a story.

"I will," he said, "upon one condition; each one of you must throw a small fagot upon the blaze and tell a story as long as it burns, then I will tell my story."

So they did, and pleasant and laughing interest went round until the turn came to the doctor.

"Well," said he, as he threw a larger fagot into the fire, "my story is not yet a day old, and still it is not a little one; for, as I went my round of calls this morning I was surprised to see a large bundle lying in front of the door of a cottage by the roadside that looked as if it were in need of paint and everything else. Curious to understand the matter, I stopped to investigate it and discovered by a card that was pinned upon the wrapper that the bundle was designed for Mrs. Cafferty. Knocking upon the door, I at last induced the woman herself to open it. Reading the card to her, I lifted the bundle into the room, whereupon she called out in a loud voice: 'Here, you, Mike, Nora, Rose, Timothy, Patrick, Bridget and Kate, come here you spalpeens and see what the leprechauns have brought ye!'

"They came, from above, below, and from all sides they came, and it is many a day since I have seen as much joy as came out of the mysterious kindness that was bound up in the good things of that bundle."

Before they went to bed they voted the doctor's story the best Christmas story of them all.—Christopher G. Hazard.

CHRISTMAS ALONE

A fellow that is far away from his home folks on Christmas day may make an effort to be gay, but doesn't have much luck, says a writer. For though he occupies no chair, across the miles his heart is there, with mother, dad and sis to share the dressing and something in his throat grows tight and makes him dream of home.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS CAROL

Fear not, for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

Chorus: Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will toward men.—St. Luke's Gospel.

Moscow, Dec. 13.—The Russian soviet government today ordered a boycott of Switzerland.

Fine Way to Keep a Face Looking Happy

MRS. LARKIN is a little old lady who lives in a red house just over the hill. The children troop by her door-yard every day on their way to school. They always look up at her windows for Mrs. Larkin is sure to be at one of them, nodding and smiling in the pleasantest fashion.

Mrs. Larkin has cookies in jars and Mrs. Larkin can knit red mittens faster than anybody else in town. Both cookies and mittens find their way to the mouths and hands of half the children in the village.

At Christmas time, the little old lady is busier than ever. But the nicest thing about her is the expression on her face. To say it shines, does not half describe the brightness of it. One day Tilly Tinker said to her:

"What makes your face like a candle, Mrs. Larkin?"

"Bless you, Tilly!" laughed the little old lady. "What do you mean?"

Tilly had difficulty in explaining, but she finally succeeded in making Mrs. Larkin understand what she meant by comparing her face to a candle.

"I'll tell you a secret," said the little old lady in a whisper. "At Christmas time I always pretend I'm looking at a Christmas tree! A tree with a thousand candles, everyone lighted! So perhaps some of them are reflected on my face. It's a fine way to keep a face looking happy. Just do it yourself!"

Perhaps Mrs. Larkin is on the best recipe for happiness—she filled her hands with good works and her mind with the brightness of lighted candles.

FARM FEDERATION ELECTS BRADFUTE

Chicago, Dec. 13. Election of a majority of Coverdale adherents to the Executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation in the closing session of the convention of the federation here Wednesday.

On the other hand, consolation was found by opponents of J. W. Coverdale, known as the "Petrol Sapiro" group who favor an aggressive cooperative marketing policy in the adoption of resolutions recommending the federation to such a policy and in the election of a president and vice president who Petrol Sapiro leaders say are not unfriendly to such a policy.

O. E. Bradfute of Xenia, O., was re-elected president and J. F. Reed of Minnesota was elected vice president both unanimously.

The convention also adopted a resolution urging "the immediate adoption of a vigorous foreign policy designed to carry out America's obligation."

Loss resulting from the war and the terms of the armistice," and "thus to restore peace and prosperity to Europe."

Russian Crop Acreage Cains. Russian agriculture is beginning to show signs of coming back as a factor in world agricultural trade, although still short of pre-war production, according to a special survey of Russian conditions made by the Department of Agriculture at Washington, which reports an increase of from 15 to 20 per cent in the acreage sown to crops this season. Trade agreements between the Soviet government and importers in Germany, Austria, Denmark, England and Norway have established trade connections, fixed methods of payments and facilitated commercial intercourse.

And for the men folks, of course you'll select THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. What could be surer of delighting them? The editorial contents of every issue, fact and fiction, would make a book. Every Christmas gift subscription is announced by a Christmas card, bearing your name as the giver. I'd like to help you with your gift selections. For farm-minded folks I'd heartily recommend THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. What The Post is to the city man and The Journal to women THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is to the farm family—almost indispensable. A Christmas gift, too, that will be welcomed every week.

UNDER THE OUTSIDE

RASS keeps green under the snow. Delicate blossoms hide away in ugly seeds. Who can believe the twisted apple-tree will be lost in a surf of pink petals in the spring?

There must be many a warm and true heart cased in a frosty exterior.

If we believed more in the covered, and less in the covering, we should make Christmas a day truly bright with peace and good will.—Martha B. Thomas.

Bringing in the Yule Log for a Merry Feast

ONE of the most delightful of the Christmas ceremonies was bringing in the Yule-log. According to an English writer, this was a massive piece of wood, frequently the rugged and grotesquely marked root of a tree. It was drawn through the forest with shouting and laughter, while each wayfarer reverently saluted it, since he knew it to be full of good promises and that in its flames would be burnt out old wrongs and heart-burnings. As it came into the great hall, the living-room of the old castle, each member of the family sat upon or saluted it in turn, and sang a Yule-song, after which all drank to a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year. A favorite Yule-song began with:

Welcome be ye that are here,
Welcome all, and make good cheer,
Welcome all, another year,
Welcome Yule.

Yuletide Traditions Differ In Various Countries

Traditions handed down through many centuries and interpreted according to individual and national tastes in far flung lands of Christendom, has developed widely varying customs for celebrating the anniversary of the birth of the Christ child.

Between now and the end of the year Christmas bells will peal from many church towers and carols will be sung in hundreds of tongues but their manner of chiming and caroling are likely to be in striking contrast to the yuletide melodies to which we are accustomed in America.

There is considerable difference also in the feasting, or lack of it, the gift-making, and the superstitions that charge the atmosphere at this time of the year with the vague, indescribable element which we call "the Christmas spirit."

While Britain gorges itself on plum pudding that wouldn't float in a mercury bath, and America devours flocks of turkeys and mountains of dressing, Sweden kneels in deepest humility and the Lapps howl meek heads in solemn homage.

While little children in Italy throng the streets reciting Godly verses, the Russians chant the myths of the Goddess of the Sun and most anything might happen in New York—from special theatrical attractions to Bachmanian revels that seem never to have heard of Mr. Volstead nor the Eighteenth amendment.

"Lamb's Wool" As inevitable as England's plum pudding, famed for its specific gravity is Ireland's "Lamb's Wool," a drink made by bruising roasted apples and mixing them with ale or milk. Long draughts of this concoction usually are served with liberal slices of English plum pudding, for Ireland is addicted to the dish also.

In England, and in fact through the British Isles, the groaning board and the brimming bowl are the chief characteristics of Christmas celebrations. And if mirth and jollity may be measured by one's physical fullness, there can be no doubt of the applicability of "Merrie England" during the yuletide.

There are no distant echoes of century on century of Christmas tradition in Germany, yet despite that country's present unhappy economic plight, it is safe to assume that the Christmas spirit will roll like a tidal wave over the land—even this year—and banish for the moment the cares and sorrows of the saddest period in German annals.

Normally there are no merrier yuletides than those of Germany. A week before Christmas the Germans bring into the towns and cities loads of pines and hemlocks until the communities are veritable forests of evergreens. Each family must have at least two trees, and if a family is too poor his neighbor usually comes to the rescue and provides a tree or two.

Begins December 6

The German Christmas festival actually begins on Dec. 6 the eve of St. Nicholas day. It is then that German youngsters watch their "p's and q's for retribution goes hand in hand with reward. An impersonator of St. Nicholas makes the rounds and makes inquiries regarding the conduct of the youth during the preceding twelve months. Woe betide those who have chafed and rebelled under parental restraint. The "saint" leaves a bundle of switches for them instead of yuletide gifts.

Good German housewives toil for days in advance preparing decorations for the trees and making the gifts; baking, knitting, sewing and wrapping, their handwork in gay-colored paper, with verses attached.

Even the cattle kneel and pray in Germany—but no one has ever heard the text of the bovine supplication—it would be a sin to eavesdrop, so no one listens.

In Lapland reindeer have a somewhat more prosaic task than they do in more southern climes where their duties consist of one night's work a year—and that spent in dashing gaily over sparkling, snow-capped homes of good children, pausing here and there to toast themselves beside some warm chimney. The Lapps drive their faithful reindeer teams across vast, frozen stretches, hitched to a sleigh, in order that the family may attend the solemn church ceremonies in the distant village. There they listen attentively to the oft-repeated, monotonous repetition of how Jesus of Nazareth was born.

Glum Laplanders

With glum faces they greet guests in their huts or tent houses, bury their dead, and appear as unjovial as possible. To make the season less inviting to the children, the little Lapps are sent to school for a few weeks during the Christmas period. Marriages are solemnized, but there are no festivities, except for the liberal libations of spirituous liquors that are generously passed around and freely imbibed.

The children of the remainder of the Scandinavian Peninsula have a much merrier time than the Lapps. They have Christmas trees and receive gifts—the manner of delivering which is not unlike the American Easter egg hunt. The gifts are hidden away and the little ones permitted to seek them out. A custom that seems especially appropriate to Christmas time is the inviolate rule of Norwegian children to feed the wild birds with corn and oats, sprinkled on the snow or attached to high poles where the little feathered fellows may partake of the grain in safety and leisure.

The Swedish housewife is especially busy.

Rickenbacker

A CAR WORTHY OF ITS NAME

Give Her An Old Fashioned Christmas —With a New Fashioned Gift—a Rickenbacker!

What gift could be more acceptable?

Do not give your wife just "a car" for Xmas. Why not give her a Rickenbacker? For just as it adds to her delight to have a beautiful strand of pearls from Deicer, an exquisite dinner ring from Tiffany's or good looking leather luggage from Cross—so does she desire a smartly designed motor car—like the Rickenbacker!

This famous car appeals to women of refinement and good taste. It looks so down right well-bred—so carefully groomed.

The Rickenbacker has a trim, snappy, and almost jaunty air as it gracefully glides down the avenue noiselessly, vibrationlessly and, above all, comfortably.

Of course everyone knows the value, safety and economy of 4-wheel brakes—particularly the Rickenbacker type of internal 4-wheel brakes which are found on the costliest European cars.

And the motor! That thrills even the oldest veterans. It just seems to effervesce with vivacity and vigor. Truly to drive a Rickenbacker is a joy forever.

Your wife or daughter will enjoy driving it, too. The ingenious ball bearing steering unit is the simplest and easiest thing in the world to handle.

How about a demonstration—today?

COMMON DUST USED IN MINES

When It Is Mixed With That From Coal the Combination Is Nonexplosive.

Dust is generally regarded as an enemy rather than a friend, and housewives have always declared relentless war on the little particles of matter that accumulate on their shelves, but some people deliberately collect dust and pile high on shelves collect dust and pile it high on shelves.

When a slight explosion occurs in a coal mine there may be no immediate damage done; but the rush of air caused by this small upheaval stirs the fine coal dust on the floor of the mine, whips it into the air and leaves it suspended; and coal dust, suspended in the air, is a deadly menace, for nothing promotes the spread of an explosion more quickly; in fact, the suspended dust becomes itself an explosive mixture, which, if ignited, could easily wreck the entire workings and cause a frightful calamity, observes the New York World.

But science has found that when coal dust in the air is mixed with other dust it becomes harmless. Therefore in the mines are shelves, and on the shelves are piles of dust collected from outside—ordinary dust, such as housewives sweep away. When a rush of air stirs the deadly coal dust it also stirs this harmless dust and mixes it with the coal; so that the air is no longer a source of danger. Inspectors visit the mines and take samples of the dust in the air and if the mixture is too nearly pure coal dust the owners are warned to put in more of the common article.

CENTIPEDES FROM TRINIDAD

London Zoo Is Given Two Specimens,
Each More Than One
Foot Long.

A pair of unfriendly looking centipedes from Trinidad have been presented to the London zoo. They are each more than a foot long, and at the broadest part nearly half an inch across. They are dark brown, with rings on the long feelers and on the legs, a pair of which projects from each flattened segment of the body. These tropical centipedes live in shady places, hidden under bark, stones or dead leaves, moving chiefly at night. It has been shown that the whole of the body of these centipedes secretes a volatile venom, so that even the wounds made by the sharp claws are extremely painful! Under the surface of the head it carries a formidable pair of poison fangs, the venom of which escapes by a pore in the claw, being formed by large glands at the base of the claws. The venom is an acid opalescent liquid, hardly miscible with water. When injected into the veins of rabbits it produces instantaneous paralysis, with coagulation of the blood; when injected under the skin enormous abscesses are rapidly formed. The bite is very painful to human beings, but has not been known to be fatal, although it causes insomnia, local swelling and occasionally ulcers.

But it doesn't mean anything in many cases.

Listen, folks, we want to prove to you that it does mean something in our case. All we ask is for you to make just one purchase in either our Meat or Grocery Department. We know that after one trial you'll agree that all we have said about high quality and low prices is true.

WHAT MAKE USE OF AIRPLANE

Test to Be Made to Determine Its Value in Campaign to Control
Insect Pests.

As a result of experiments carried on during the past two years in spraying trees with poison distributed by an airplane, in the campaign to control insect pests, it has been considered advisable by the United States Department of Agriculture to make a number of tests this summer to determine whether the lighter-than-air machine can be used satisfactorily. Arrangements have been made between the Department of Agriculture and the air service of the War department to use a motorized balloon for this purpose.

The work will be conducted in the gipsy-moth infested area in New England, where an attempt will be made to devise equipment that can be attached to the balloon so that a poison spray can be applied in forest areas. Numerous tests have been planned to determine whether this method of spraying is effective and economical. Department officials hope that the results may be of practical importance in the treatment of forest areas infested with leaf-eating insects.

This method of spraying is relatively new, and as a poisonous dust can be applied more rapidly from the air than a liquid spray from the ground, it is necessary to determine the effectiveness of the former method and whether or not the application can be made at an expense that will warrant its use on a large scale.

TWO WATCHES SOLVE MUDDLE

Sniffens Has No More Trouble Keeping Track of Daylight Saving and Standard Time.

Sniffens is a traveling salesman who is on the road most of the time and whose wanderings take him across the continent a couple of times a year. It will be a week or so before he makes his next trip, but already he has begun to make preparations, and one of the first things he did was to get out what he calls his "second" watch. For with the advent of daylight saving each year Sniffens, who travels to suburban points just to keep his hand in between times, has great difficulty in keeping track of the schedules, due to the difference between railroad time-tables and daylight time.

Sniffens has found that his "second" watch, which is of silver, while his regular timepiece is of gold, has solved the problem. He simply sets the silver watch to correspond to daylight saving time while his regular watch is kept at the standard time of the particular section of the country he happens to be in.

The silver watch is used to keep city appointments and to keep tabs on suburban trains, while the gold watch serves the purpose of being always right for trains which run on standard time—New York Sun.

Who Is Your Neighbor? A Good Christmas Game

THIS is a very lively Christmas game, and one especially useful in an emergency, for it can be played without preparation of any kind. Arrange as many chairs as there are players in the form of a circle. When this has been done the party must divide into sides, one side being blindfolded and taking possession of the chairs in such a way that each has a vacant chair at his right hand.

The other side then move silently into the middle of the circle, and at a given signal they must all mysteriously and noiselessly sent themselves in the vacant chairs. At the word "sing" the blindfolded players must all start singing. A well-known tune may be arranged beforehand, or they may all sing anything that happens to occur to them at the time.

All endeavor to disguise their voices as much as possible. The blindfolded players must listen attentively, the object of each being to guess correctly who his singing right-hand neighbor is.

Those whose guesses are correct have their bandages removed, and change places with their singing neighbors. The unsuccessful guessers must try again. One guess only is allowed each time.—F. H. Sweet.

There Is Satisfaction in Trust in the Future

HE was shabby and old and stooped. As she walked along the streets people turned and looked after her with pitying eyes and thought to themselves what a hard lot hers must be. Yet, had they but known the truth she needed no pity. For, although poor in material wealth, she was far richer in other things than many of those who looked upon her with compassion. For her heart was full of contentment, she had a childlike faith and trust in the future and she was content with her lot in life, realizing that while she lacked many of the things which wealth could buy, God had given her many other gifts instead: The fullness of years, good health, a little beside to call her own, an income which, if very meager, was enough to supply her with necessities, and, best of all, the ability to see and enjoy the things which were hers. So, while the merry Christmas throng looked at her pityingly as they passed, she went serenely on her way as happy and as much at peace with everything as if all the earth was hers.—Katherine Edelman.

Busy Mailmen Add to Our Christmas Cheer

FROM house to house they go with cards and calendars of cheer, presents and surprises. Always cheery, never complaining, how much they add to our Christmas joy and pleasure!

If cross expressions were worn by those who brought us our Christmas presents it would not be the same. And yet they work so hard, so over-hard, they carry so much, and all to others!

Our mailmen are a pretty wonderful lot and our Christmas time is added to by them to a very big degree.

It seems as though we should do our part to give a little cheer to our mailmen in gratitude and appreciation of the spirit in which they do their work.—Mary Graham Bonner.

THE RIGHT COSTUME, O. K.

Hubby—So you're going to take part in the Christmas Eve entertainment. What part do you take?

Wife—I take the leading part. I'm Christmas Eve herself.

KEEP A CHRISTMAS RECORD

Why wouldn't it be fun for a family to keep a record book in which to preserve the interesting things about the annual Christmas celebration from year to year? Some people keep a record of the important happenings of their everyday lives, but it is rather inconvenient for the average person to take the time to make it complete enough to be more than a date and a line or two. A Christmas record would give all the details of the family's Christmas presents, the names of the guests, the menu of the Christmas dinner, the amusements and games, and maybe a tracing of the baby's first little shoe! Every succeeding year would add to its value and interest.—C. E. Wadsworth.

Twenty-Five Years of Nervous Ills Quickly Banished By Nerv-Worth

Washington Man's Remarkable Recovery—All Credit to This Famous Home Remedy.

It helped me wonderfully, for my nervousness is all about gone, and I have no further trouble with my stomach or gas. I am gaining in weight and strength right along. ### YULETIDE TRADITIONS

 fully devoted to the theory that less her home is spotless there be no real Christmas. She weeks scouring and scrubbing that there may be no speck of sin-dirt to violate the spirit of the Yuletide. Homemade wines and also occupy much of her just prior to the holiday season.
 As a matter of fact, plenty of work to be the Swedish housewife's portion in the Christmas festivities.
 Fish For Christmas

Christmas fish is to Sweden what turkey is to America. Four days are celebrated in Sweden. Christmas is a day of quiet and prayer but on the second day the real fun begins and continues until the end of the period. Gay parties, in long sleighs ride to church in the accompaniment of jangling bells.

The goose is the "national bird" of Denmark at Christmastide. The "Christmas tree" remains standing for it is in the orchard. At an appointed hour the head of the house goes into the orchard with a stick and strikes the tree three times, saying the words: "Rejoice and be fruitful." Virtually the whole of Denmark goes on holiday from Christmas to New Year. No one does any work that can be avoided.

Besides actually celebrating the birth of Christ, the Russians have a traditional fete in honor of the "God-des of the Sun." In the old Russia this ceremonial was observed in most of the villages throughout the nation. With the advent of the present regime the tradition may have partly perished along with other customs of the church. The convention of Russian greeting of Christmas day literally translated was "Greetings for the Lord's birth," to which the person addressed responded
 "God be with you."

Quiet In France
 In France the Christmas season probably is quieter than in any other country, although remnants of an old tradition still endure among the peasant classes. It is chiefly a sesson in which the storekeepers will decorate their stalls and display their gift wares, while the old folks sit about and recite the younger generation tales of other days. Christmas in Italy is primarily for the benefit of the children. The youngsters pass through the streets gaily singing and reciting bits of verse. In Spain it is a period of unrestrained hilarity and festivity.

In America Christmas seems to be a combination of many traditions handed down through the centuries from old world customs and covered with a purely American veneer.

General Butler May Lead
Quaker City Cops.

Gen. Smedley D. Butler.

Brigadier-General Smedley D. Butler, "the fighting Quaker," idol of the U. S. marine corps, has been asked to assume command of the Philadelphia police force and will do so if the marine corps will grant him a leave of absence, which Secretary Denby opposes because of the value of General Butler to the corps.

Smedley Butler, whose idea of a post of command is that it should be somewhere ahead of the firing line, instead of in a zone of safety, fairly worships his marines—a real love that is heartily reciprocated. He recently acted as cheer leader for the corps when the marines' football team defeated the team of the Third army corps.

REAL SPIRIT

IF THE real spirit of Christmas is within us we will indeed find that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and we will give out of the fullness of our hearts and because of the joy that giving brings us instead of from any other motive. So to get the real joy of giving and to receive the richness of the Christmas spirit in fullest measure, give because your heart prompts you to and forget all else.—Katherine Edelman.

Selfishness is poverty; it is the most utter destitution of a human being.

Star-Led

THREE Kings have journeyed from the eastern land, A star hath led them to Jordan's strand, And in Jesus' manger they have found their home.

And brightly shining guiding stars: Into the manger the Kings repair, With raptures on the boy they gaze, And how before him in joy and praise.

O child of Man! hold thee firm and true; The Kings come hither, O come thou too! The star of mercy, the star of love, Shall point thee the path-way to Heaven above; And full their gold and incense sweet, Lay thou the heart of the Saviour's feet! Bring them the heart!
